Further, these are essential so that we can conduct our business in accordance with our stated values.

Ethical business conduct is critical to a business. Accordingly, Directors/Officers of the Company are expected to read and understand this Code, uphold these standards in day-to-day activities, and comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations and all applicable policies and procedures adopted by the Company that govern the conduct of its employees.

The Board of Directors will approve this code and it would be applicable to each Director as soon as it is approved by the Board. However, in case of Officers, they should sign an acknowledgment form at the end of this Code and return the form to the Company Secretary appointed as Compliance Officer for the purpose of this code indicating that they have received, read and understood, and agreed to comply with the Code.

2. HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT:

Directors shall conduct their activities, on behalf of the Company and on their personal behalf, with honesty, integrity and fairness. Directors will act in good faith, responsibly, with due care, competence and diligence, without allowing their independent judgement to be subordinated. Honest conduct is understood as such conduct that is ethical, free from fraud or deception and conforming to the accepted professional standards. Ethical conduct means the ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships.

3. CONFLICT OF INTEREST:

Directors/Officers must act in the best interest of the Company and must refrain from engaging in any activity or having a personal interest that presents a actual or potential "conflict of interest".

A conflict of interest occurs when your personal interest interferes, or appears to interfere, with the interest whenever you, as an Director/Officer take action or have an interest that prevents you from performing your Company duties and responsibilities honestly, objectively and effectively.

A conflict of interest exists where the interests or benefits of one person or entity conflict with the interests or benefits of the Company.

Director's/Officer's duty to the Company demands that he or she avoids and discloses actual and apparent conflicts of interest.

Examples include:

- a. Employment / Outside employment. In consideration of employment with the Company, Directors/Officers are expected to devote their full attention to the business interests of the Company. Additionally, Directors/Officers must disclose to the Company, any interest that they have that may conflict with the business of the Company.
- b. Outside Directorships and employment. It is a conflict of interest to serve as a Director / employee in any other organization which is doing the similar business in which the Company is engaged. Therefore, no Director/Officer of the Company should serve in any other organization as Director /Employee of that organization which is doing the similar business in which the Company is engaged.
- c. Related parties. As a general rule, Director/Officers should avoid conducting Company business with a relative, or with a business entity in which a relative is associated directly or indirectly in any significant role.

any act or failure to act, any commitment of fraud, or opportunity for the commitment of any fraud. However, inexpensive gifts, infrequent business meals, celebratory events and entertainment, provided that they are not excessive or create an appearance of impropriety, do not violate this policy. Questions regarding whether a particular payment or gift violates this policy are to be directed to the Chairman & Managing Director of the Company (CMD). Gifts given by the Company to suppliers or customers, or received from suppliers or customers, should be appropriate to the circumstances and should never be of a kind that could create an appearance of impropriety. The nature and cost must always be accurately recorded in the Company's books and records. The Company will notify a gift policy with the approval of CMD.
